Montelektro and 8Sigma team up to develop MES solution for breweries

Zagreb, November 5th, 2019 - Montelektro, one of the leading integrators in the automation of breweries and 8Sigma, premium supplier of MES solutions began cooperation on developing a software solution that will meet specific requirements of the modern brewing industry.

Due to technological progress, industries face many challenges to be more competitive and reach their business goals.

As a company present in the beer and beverage industry for almost 20 years, Montelektro is well-versed in all aspects of beer production and knows that today, the digitalization of breweries is unavoidable.

That is why Montelektro decided to extend services portfolio and provide customers with a solution that will help them digitally transform their business. Following their business policy of partnering with reliable companies, Montelektro chose 8Sigma, whose team has over 15 years of experience in implementing MES solutions for various types of industries worldwide.

Within this cooperation, engineers of both companies will join forces in developing MES that can improve the production of small and very large breweries.

Some of the most important benefits and features of the solution named BeerVision will be: supervising all production phases, integrating and connecting equipment, optimizing maintenance activities, tracking product's history in real-time, comparing results with targets, and many other valuable activities that will support breweries in improving product quality and increasing effectivity and productivity.

On announcing cooperation, Mr. Vladimir Lukić, director at 8Sigma said: "We are honored that Montelektro picked us for cooperation in a project that brings Industry 4.0 to breweries. It will be a great opportunity to enrich our experience in creating innovative solutions for beer and beverage industry."

Mr. Edvin Šafranko, CEO at Montelektro said: "By developing our own MES solution we will once again confirm our status of leading provider of turnkey solutions in brewing automation. With this cooperation, we made a step forward and expanded our services on a higher level of automation and digitalization".

BeerVision will be officially presented at BrauBeviale, that will take place in Nuremberg from November 12th to 14th 2019.

Montelektro and 8Sigma invite all visitors of this fair to their booths 7-840 and 7-844 to find out more information about this solution.
